In this funding opportunity announcement (FOA), the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is announcing the establishment of the Patient-Reported Outcomes (PRO) Working Group as part of the FDA's PRO Portfolio Review. The Patient-Reported Outcomes (PRO) Working Group is charged with evaluating and recommending ways to improve the validity and appropriateness of PRO assessments collected to support drug approval. PRO methodology is intended to assess the impact of drugs, devices, and other medical interventions on a patient's health status, as experienced by the patient and reported by the patient. PRO is a mandatory step in the FDA's developmental process for all products requiring an Investigational New Drug (IND) application. For products approved under the Animal Rule, this assessment will also be a requirement of the product's listing on the Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) List of Approved Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations (Orange Book). The PRO Working Group will focus on improving the following areas: (1) patient-reported health status assessments, (2) response options, (3) statistical and psychometric methods for PRO, (4) scoring and presentation of data, and (5) interpretive issues.
