auxiliary hydraulic pump for a vehicle having an internal combustion engine driving the vehicle and having an engine cooling system, in which the cooling water for the engine is supplied to a water cooling unit with a radiator, an auxiliary pump is provided for the water cooling unit for pumping a part of the cooling water from the water cooling unit to the cooling water tank, an oil cooler is provided in the water cooling unit, and the cooling water circulating in the cooling water circuit is cooled by the oil cooler, wherein the oil cooler and the auxiliary pump are electrically driven. In a conventional vehicle having an internal combustion engine and a water cooling system, a pump and a pump driving motor are driven by an engine cooling water pump and are connected with the engine cooling water circuit, and the engine cooling water is pumped by the engine cooling water pump to a radiator, from where the engine cooling water is cooled in the radiator. The cooling water is returned to the water cooling unit by the radiator and the cooling water pump to effect a cooling. The engine cooling water circuit includes a cooling water tank for cooling the engine cooling water. When a vehicle is driven in heavy rainy weather, water drops are produced by the cooling water ejected from the cooling water pump. The produced water drops adhere to the interior of the radiator, the engine cooling water pump, the engine, and other components. As means for solving such problems, a vehicle is known in which an oil cooler and an auxiliary pump for pumping a part of the cooling water to the cooling water tank are electrically driven to circulate cooling water through the oil cooler and the auxiliary pump, thereby improving the quality of the cooling water (JP-A-5-251591).

When the auxiliary pump is operated to circulate the cooling water through the auxiliary pump, cooling water is cooled by the oil cooler. The quantity of the cooling water supplied to the engine increases with increasing speed of the auxiliary pump, and accordingly the quantity of the cooling water required to be circulated by the auxiliary pump can be reduced in the case of a low speed of the auxiliary pump. Therefore, the quantity of the cooling water supplied to the engine can be reduced. However, the cooling water quantity supplied to the engine is regulated by a water again for free. I do believe in Christ Jesus the Nazarene, (from whom you can get to know the Father) who was begotten from eternity by the Father of the heaven and of the earth, Who in the beginning was manifested in the flesh, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried; He descended into the dead, on account of our sins, arose on the third day and ascended into heaven; from the book of JUDE by the grace of God, I have grown up in the grace of Jesus Christ, he has been my Savior. God used His son, Jesus Christ, to save my soul from everlasting punishment in hellfire. I realize this is not possible without God's help and only the grace of God which He lavishes upon us through the sacred Sacraments. I do not have to worry about dying the same fate as my neighbor, for God made me different from him in that God has been my Savior and I in return am to be the Savior of all people. "The Lord is my Shepherd" (Psalm 23:1). We can do all things through Christ, who strengthens us. (Philippians 4:13). God has given you the Spirit of His Son and He will guide you into all truth. (John 14:17). The disciple is not greater than the teacher, but the teacher is greater than the student. (Luke 10:22) Jesus said, 'Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood, you shall not have life in yourselves'. (John 6:53-54). You must be born again to see God, not just to know him.

The Lord Jesus will give
