I have found that the top email program for most people (aside from Mozilla Thunderbird) is Microsoft Outlook Express. It is one of the most used programs of this group and it can handle all the messages and tasks that you will need to deal with on your PC. For better performance, it is advisable that you download the latest version of the program. You can also adjust several settings of the program in order to maximize the performance. This article will be covering some of the tips on how to make the program perform better. Some people are interested in optimizing the speed and performance of Microsoft Outlook Express to ensure the best possible user experience. Microsoft Outlook Express can be slow when dealing with large amounts of e-mails or it can crash due to some of the settings being not properly set. This article will outline some of the things that you should and should not do.

1. Selecting A Good Compatible Folder You should make sure that you have a good compatible folder before installing the program. This will enable you to easily organize the new messages in the same way as the folders of your e-mails on your old computer. When creating a new folder, it will be easier for you to add all the new messages that you will receive to it. You can also include the messages that are coming from other folders. The format of the folder should be .msg for Windows 7 and .msgf for Windows XP.
2. Adding Extra Compatible Components You should add extra components to the program. These can be plugins, ad-ons, and extensions. You should add extra components that can improve the operation of the program. Some of the common components that you can add are: - Clipboard Manager - E-mail Scanner - File Backup (optional) - DDE Manager - Internet Mail - More Plug-ins - Rich Text Editor - Screen Save - Touch Panel - HTML Editor - Aligner
3. Setting Folder Options You should also adjust the folder options so that you will be able to view all the messages in the folders in one list. To adjust the folder options, you can follow these steps: Open the folder options. Click on File and select Folder Options. Make sure that the 'Folder List displays' option is selected. Click on the 'View' tab and select 'Unfolded'. The 'Folder List displays' option should be selected on this option.
