Widgets for your desktop. Make your desktop look more alive with wallpaper. DesktopWallpaper is a small application which provides you with a convenient means to change the background of your computer screen. The wallpaper is changed periodically based on a configured interval or on a list of images in a special folder. The application can manage the desktop background of multiple computers on your network and can also display the wallpaper of the computer that runs the application. Orbiter is the world's first Orbiter for Windows XP and can be used with Windows 98, 2000, ME, NT, 2000. Orbiter is an extremely stable and powerful desktop application that supports multiple (20 to 50) Desktops. You can easily run many programs (even 100's) in the background without a slow performance. There are a couple of reasons for this: Orbiter uses the latest threads technology and has a lot of the code rewritten to increase speed and stability. Orbiter uses a new scheduling system which will prevent any program from slowing down other programs. Orbiter will balance processes to guarantee each desktop receives the same number of processes. Orbiter runs on multiple desktop platforms with no required compiler. As a result, Orbiter is much more stable than its competition and is a true desktop management software. Orbiter has a built-in scheduler that can have profiles for computers on your network. These profiles can be for specific users, groups or locations. Profiles can be set to run under specific conditions such as time of day, last user, etc. This means you can have many computers running different tasks at the same time without any risk of overlap. Orbiter will automatically adjust the resource usage of all the tasks that are running on your system so that they consume the least amount of resources possible. Orbiter supports so many different tasks and uses the latest technology that you will wonder what other tasks you can run on your system! Orbiter also provides a built-in "Shutdown" program. Orbiter comes with the latest security technology to prevent an attacker from taking control of your computer and destroying all of your files. Orbiter allows you to place a keyboard shortcut for the "Shutdown" program. Orbit

What's New In?

The DesktopWallpaper Gadget is designed to display the images from a folder on your computer and to help you change your wallpaper with just a few mouse clicks. The gadget can fit on your desktop and periodically display an image from a preset folder. You can use it to relax your eyes after a few hours of working on the computer. Browsing through your favorite pictures will always help you recharge your batteries. Because it can easily become a distraction, you are able to minimize the display area when you want to focus on work. The gadget can also change the desktop background at preset time intervals (every 5, 30 minutes, 4 hours or once per day). If you get bored by your desktop image you can browse through the pictures, choose the one that you like and click once on the "Set as wallpaper" button. Desktop Wallpaper gadget can successfully replace the Desktop Settings window since it includes even the position of the pictures (center, tiled, crop). You can create different collections of images that will be used on special occasions and save them on different folders. The gadget has three predefined folders (Pictures, Public Pictures and theme's default wallpapers) and remembers a custom folder that you can choose from the disk. The application allows you to preview the next wallpaper and to shuffle the images before displaying them. If one of the pictures catches your attention and you can simply click the magnifier button to view a larger version.
